Gilles Coronado: La main (out now)*ONZ 51 / 3760288802914 / label: Onze Heures Onze / format: CD / France – Jazz

La Main's basic formula is a singular trumpet/guitar/drums trio. Each performer immerses himself in the different lines of the piece, as none is specifically dedicated to them, so as to be able to turn the music upside down, to divert it from its initial reality. The band's instrumentation is a motivating force in creating an unusual sound that combines a certain lightness with the impact of a power trio or more. Listen.

Nairi is the name of the ancient territory of Armenia. Claude Tchamitchian wanted to evoke it through three suites composed in the spirit of the tales sung, declaimed and peddled by the Aedes. Filippo Cosentino & Marc Copland: Ask (out now)*IR 12023 / 8012786930329 / label: Ipogeo Records / format: CD / Italy – Jazz

ASK is the question about contemporaneity. Starting from the cover in which Monviso is the protagonist, it symbolizes nature in which borders do not exist, one can move freely, so the presence of borders often places man faced with questions and situations that are difficult to resolve. Together with Copland on the piano they gave life to a different interpretation of the same song, in the midst of the jazz tradition. Listen.

Here for the first time Scott dedicates the whole album on a canon of jazz standards where he finds his roots and source for inspiration. He selected a collection of his favourite songs to complement his highly refined quartet.
